Midgets Advance in Playoffs

One of the largest crowds to see a hockey game this season was present in the Coleman Arena Sunday, March 13 to witness the Coleman Midgets defeat Stavelly 6-2.

The Coleman Midgets had previously downed Stavelly 4-3 in Stavelly in a two game total point series.

Sunday's game was a pleasure to watch. Both teams were strong but where Stavelly had the speed, Coleman had the finish around the net. Throughout the three frames the Coleman boys had the edge in play, and it was only the inspired net minding of Stavelly's Ohler that prevented the score from reaching the double figures.

The production line Churla, Chernecky and Liska were responsible for all the goals. Chernecky was the flashy star of Sunday's game, notching two goals and three assists for five points, followed by Churla's hot-puck of 3 goals and one assist for four points. Liska followed with one goal one assist. Baird countered both Stavelly goals on assists by Flanagan.

An unfortunate accident marred the final period when two Stavelly defencemen collided head-up when they missed a check on Churla. Both were unconscious and one, we understand, had to be hospitalized with concussion and flown to Calgary. Previous to that incident, Ohler, in the net for Stavelly was hit with the puck on throat early in the second period. He appeared in the third period.

Coleman's Gordon Kerr was knocked unconscious when he missed a check and rammed into the boards.

There were seven penalties handed out, three to Coleman and four to Stavelly.

50c Ton Boost In Govt. Aid Move Alberta Coal East

OTTAWA (CP) — Federal subventions assisting the movement of Canadian coal to market are being increased for the West and kept largely unchanged for the East, Mines Minister Prudham said Wednesday.

He announced subvention policy for the 1955-56 fiscal year starting April 1 at the close of Wednesday's Commons sitting. Subventions are treasury aid towards freight rates on coal.

Main changes from the current fiscal year:

1. Assistance on the movement of coal from Alberta and the British Columbia section of the Crow's Nest Pass field to the Ontario market will be increased by 50 cents a ton. This would bring the top for railroad and industrial to $4 a ton, for domestic coal $3.50.

2. Assistance on these coals up to $1 a ton is provided for their movement to Manitoba for industrial purposes, a reinstatement of a policy dropped a few years ago.

3. A recently-adopted policy of a $2.40-a-ton subvention on Maritimes coal moving to some Newfoundland points is eliminated. Officials said this movement is small.

Mr. Prudham also announced the federal government is ordering that, in all purchases of coal for federal buildings, a 10 per cent price preference is to be allowed Canadian coal is against imported coal.

Effect of this order would be that, where Canadian coal comes within 1 per cent of the price of comparable U.S. fuel, Canadian coal would be bought. Officials said it is too early to estimate results of this move.

Government informants said the changes are not expected to make much difference in the over-all annual amount paid from the treasury in subventions because of different marketing patterns that have developed recently.

In the last fiscal year for which figures are available — 1953-54 — the government spent $9,800,000 on subventions. For the current year ending March 31, they are expected to exceed $10,000,000. Main estimates for 1955-56 include a nominal figure of $10,000,000.

There will be no changes, Mr. Prudham said, in existing assistance to Nova Scotia-New Brunswick coal moving to Ontario and Quebec, Saskatchewan coal to Ontario, Alberta-Crow's Nest coal for railway use, and Alberta and British Columbia coal for export and ship bunkering.

Predicts Aid Helpful

He said it is expected the changes will be of substantial assistance to the coal industry.

The industry in Alberta generally and the Crow's Nest area had been hardest hit, through loss of the railway market for steam coal and through increasing competition from oil and natural gas.

The assistance towards the Ontario movement should be of help in retaining markets in northern Ontario for steam-producing coals and also aiding domestic coals in Ontario generally.

Aid for the movement to Manitoba was being resumed because of a developing market in that area.

Year-Round Fishing Now Legal In B. C.

CRANBROOK — (HNS) — Dominion orders-in-council required for B.C. Game Commission fishing regulations for 1955 to make them law, have now been passed and some startling changes have occurred in the Kootenays, effective immediately.

Year round fishing in all lakes, except those under special closure for treatment and research, is now legal and fishing through ice for any variety of fish is permitted.

Ban on the use of fish eggs for bait has been cancelled.

All streams in both Kootenays are now open for all varieties of fish throughout the year except in April, May and June. Exceptions to this regulation are streams inhabited by Dolly Varden and Eastern Brook trout, which are open all year except for August, September and October.

Minimum legal size for fish has been reduced to six inches over all length, except in the big lakes, Kootenay, Arrow, Slokan, Windermere and Columbia Lakes, where the eight-inch minimum is still in effect.

Positively forbidden in the new regulations is any transfer of live fish from one body of water to another, except by authorized Game Commission personnel.

With the new regulations now complete booklets for sports fishermen for 1955 are in the process of being printed and will be ready soon for distribution through the usual channels, but in the meantime the new regulations are effective immediately.

These new regulations will be a boon to Crow's Nest Pass residents. Sportsmen are advised to get a copy of these new regulations for their own benefit.

Colemans Fine Record In Blood Transfusion Service

One of the most valuable services rendered to and by the Red Cross in the Crow's Nest Pass is the blood transfusion service.

A tremendous amount of blood is used. Because this is a mining area, about 500 pints are reserved.

About five years ago a plane from Calgary landed at our emergency airport to bring a supply for a Bellevue patient. Last fall blood was speeded to the hospital from Lethbridge for a Coleman miner. We are informed that about 88 patients used 151 bottles of blood last year.

To maintain the transfusion service the Red Cross has a highly efficient staff who operate the blood donor clinics. They visit the Pass twice yearly, once in April and again in September. The CNP Municipal Hospital is the most convenient depot and the CNP chapter of the A.A.R.N. assist at the bedside of the donors.

In the past, best results for blood volunteers had been obtained when a house-to-house canvass had been made by various local organizations. Free transportation to and from the clinic was provided.

Mrs. Joan Dunford, convener for the Blood Transfusion Service, reports that Coleman has 200 faithful blood donors.

Calgary headquarters is proud of Coleman's fine record. The next clinic will be held April 13.

Your contributions to the current appeal for funds support this and other services of the Red Cross.

Why Did You Not Vote?

March 7, Civic election day. Yet only 37% of the voters for the election of Council Members went to the polls, and roughly 20% for the School Board. With over 1,000 voters for town Council, and over 1,400 for School Board, this record certainly does not give credit to a progressive town. With cars available to provide transportation to and from the polls, good weather, these certainly were no excuse for staying away. What is happening to our democratic system, is it going to die a lingering death, because the people are not interested enough to maintain it. Must we go to bed some night and wake up the following day to find a Canadian dictator all because we were not interested enough to protect what our forefathers fought a war for us. Citizens it's your duty to vote and it's not a very hard task. Let's look at some of the facts right here in Coleman. Not one of our candidates received one third of the possible votes. In many instances when citizens were approached to go and vote, they did not know that an election was being held. Others knew but just could not be bothered. This shows that a lot of you citizens are not really interested in what happens, just so long as you get the necessities of life. This takes me back to World War II, and seeing the heart-break of mothers, wives, and others when their man became a plot of ground with a cross or other marker over it to state this was a Canadian who had died in defence of the democratic ways of life. And yet, we today are not prepared to exercise the rights that our system gave us. Only by voting can we be assured of sound government and the continuation of the Democratic system. Ask yourself today, why did I not vote. See if your answer is convincing to yourself.

Food Sense

Bakery Foods Foundation of Canada.

No 11 O'clock Drag!

Breakfast habits of many Canadians are due for a change — a change back to better breakfasts! Too often this first meal no longer qualifies as one of the good old fashioned "Three square meals a day". Those who skip breakfast or eat a skimpy one are apt to drag by 11 a.m.

These are the people who may say "I'm not hungry early in the morning". Perhaps they are not, but are they alert all morning long or does it take a good lunch to get them into action?

Those who lack an early morning appetite might start the breakfast habit by eating small portions of a balanced breakfast and gradually stepping up the quantities.

The cost of mid-morning hunger has been checked in an extensive study at a mid-western university medical school. During late morning hours, college students who ate a good breakfast turned out more work, were quicker in their reactions—both mental and physical—and tired less easily than those who ate no breakfast or had only "black" coffee.

Nutritionists say that those who skip the first meal, or eat a slim one, often fail to get enough of the day's necessary nutrients at luncheon or dinner. For example, fresh or citrus fruits, which furnish vitamins for extra sparkle, are not always included in the last two meals of the day.

What is a good breakfast? Authorities say that breakfast should supply about one-third of the daily food needs. Plenty of fatigue-chasing protein should be included if that mid-morning, let-down feeling is to disappear.

A good breakfast follows a basic pattern — citrus or fresh fruit or juice; a main dish of eggs or meat; whole wheat or enriched white bread or toast; and milk. Each of these foods, except fruit, is a top source of protein. In combination they provide necessary nutrients and a steady supply of energy. Whole wheat and enriched bread or toast supply not only protein, but the essential B vitamins, thiamine, riboflavin and niacin, and plenty of iron. Served as French toast, bread can be the basis of a high protein dish, combining eggs, milk and bread.

No 11 o'clock drag — If breakfast scores high!

A Ringer — With Fish Fillets: No need to cast about further for an unusual recipe using inexpensive fish fillets. With good Canadian cod and haddock right in season, and just beginning to be used, try serving the fillet curled around a portion of savoury grapefruit bread stuffing. Your men folk will quip, "You've made a ringer this time!"

Grapefruit 'N Bread Stuffed Fillets:

- 1/2 cup melted butter or margarine
- 1/2 cup chopped onion
- 1/2 cup chopped celery
- 4 cups toasted 1/2" enriched bread cubes
- 1 cup diced, fresh grapefruit sections
- 1 tablespoon minced parsley
- 1 teaspoon salt
- 1/2 teaspoon poultry seasoning
- 1/4 teaspoon pepper
- 1 cup grapefruit juice
- 8 fish fillets (cod, haddock or other Canadian fish in season—about 2 pounds)

Melt butter or margarine. Add onion and celery and saute until tender. Pour over toasted enriched bread cubes, grapefruit sections and seasonings. Add grapefruit juice and mix lightly, but well. Cut each fillet in half, lengthwise.

Line 12 large, well greased muffin tins with fish fillet pieces, placing skin side toward centre of pan. (Fillets may be skinned, if preferred.) Place 1/2 cup Grapefruit 'N Bread Stuffing in centre of each fillet. Bake in a moderate oven (350 degrees F.) for 40 minutes.

YIELD: 12 Grapefruit 'N Bread Stuffed Fillets or 6 servings.

Large Long Term Loans

There seems to be a slow but definite trend away from large long-term loans and this is all to the good. For many years we have been urging Credit Unions to avoid the dangers and pitfalls that accompany this type of loan. We firmly believe that if Credit Unions stay within their intended field and do a thorough job, any problem of surplus funds will soon diminish. It is a fact, a sad fact that many many Credit Unions are not fully serving their existing or potential members in their intended field where such assistance is urgently needed. Over one quarter of our Alberta Credit Unions have long-term loans in excess of 25% of total loans. Quite a number of these have over half of their capital so encumbered and few even more than 75%.

A number of our readers have heard Mr. Courtney Scott discuss this matter particularly at Conventions where he often leads panel discussions and at Chapter Meetings. We asked Mr. Scott to outline his views and send them along to us in order that more people might examine and discuss them. Mr. Scott is one of the "pioneers" in the movement and is full-time Manager of the Calgary Terminal Credit Union whose Assets now exceed half a million. Below are his remarks:—

"Although I have always felt that Credit Unions should not handle large, long-term loans, in the early years of my Credit Union work, I harbored certain reservations in that I thought there might be a number of the larger Credit Unions which, owing to the accumulation of funds, would have to enter this field.

By the way, I consider a loan which embraces an amount in excess of $1,000 and which is extended beyond a two-year period to be a large, long-term loan.

Now, however, after almost fourteen years' experience in all phases of Credit Union work, I am convinced beyond any shadow of doubt that Credit Unions should not enter this field.

I sincerely believe that the large, long-term loan field is not for Credit Unions, and in support of my belief I list the following reasons:—

(1) Credit Unions to be successful must serve the majority of members, and the issuance of large loans (which are almost always issued to a chosen few) confines service to the minority. The result is inevitable — a limited membership, a restricted growth, few services.

(2) Credit Unions, generally speaking, have neither the staff nor facilities to handle large loans, for remember the term "large loans" implies the handling of mortgages, chattel mortgages, hypothecations of title, caveats, the examination of titles, and so on.

(3) The mortgage loan field is not being exploited, whereas the personal loan field is. Mortgage loans can still be obtained in Alberta at 4% to 9% per annum, whereas a number of finance companies charge as much as 24% per annum for personal loans.

(4) We can dream; we should dream at times, but if we are realistic we will immediately realize that the vast majority of Credit Unions in Alberta have not, individually, begun to accumulate sufficient funds to handle large loans. To handle loans of this type we believe that a Credit Union is likely to require capital ranging from one million dollars to ten million dollars. Hence, it is amusing, yet regrettable to hear officers of Credit Unions with assets of $5,000.00 to $20,000 talking about making a loan of $5,000.00.

(5) The attendant risks are much greater and more numerous in the case of large loans. Briefly, the time suggests immediately the possibility of change of domicile, domestic troubles, accidents, serious illness in the family, lay-offs. Even a slight change in the loanee's circumstances can extend a long-term loan to a very, very long-term loan, and neither the Credit Union nor the member can afford it.

(6) I sincerely believe that in Alberta, if not in all Provinces of Canada, Credit Unions are not taking care of 25% of the personal loans of their members. I refer to loans for doctor's bills, secondhand cars, radios, deepfreeze units, television sets, consolidation of debts, legal fees and so on. The list is endless, and it embraces countless commodities and services which are being handled through instalment buying or by loans from finance companies, and in many cases the members — Credit Union Members — are paying interest rates of 14% to 24%, often without the protection of insurance, and certainly without the encouragement to build up a capital or savings which are in turn insured by their respective Credit Unions.

In conclusion may I emphasize the salient points, and they are: All successful Credit Unions function for the majority of members — not for the minority;

Credit Unions have neither the staff nor the facilities to handle large loans;

The mortgage-loan field is not being exploited, whereas the personal loan field is;

The capital of most Credit Unions cannot meet the demands of the large, long-term loan field; The risks are greater and more numerous in the handling of large loans;

We are not handling 25% of the personal loans of Credit Union members.

We believe, in essence, that the serving of the majority, coupled with the confining of our lending activities to the personal loan field, will produce a growth far beyond our current status, and at the same time provide, in most cases, and for many years to come, the answer to the question of large long-term loans. In short, we will have better informed members, and more money, but the extension of our services in the personal loan field will preclude our entering the larger field . . .

Timely Questions And Their Answers

Q. — What is the best way to clean a paint roller after use?

A. — Place the roller in a glass jar with the proper solvent for the paint used. Shake the solvent through the roller, then roll it out on newspapers to remove the liquid. When paint is out, wash the roller in warm suds, rinse and dry.

Q. — How can I repair a long crack in a paint-it-yourself bookcase bought at a bargain?

A. — Fill the crack with plastic wood, holding a board on the underside to keep the plastic wood from falling through. Build the plastic wood slightly higher than the surrounding areas. When it hardens, sand it flush and smooth.

Micro-Wave System To Cost 8 Million

EDMONTON (CP) — Establishment of a microwave relay system to carry long distance telephone and television in Alberta will cost about $8,000,000, Hon. Gordon Taylor, provincial telephones minister, said today.

The Alberta system will be part of a 3,800-mile system between Sydney, N.S., and Vancouver — the longest micro-wave system in the world. Date for start of operations in this province still is unknown.

Work in Alberta is being done by virtue of the Alberta Government Telephones membership in the trans-Canada telephone system.

In Alberta, extensive surveys now are taking place to determine the location of relay towers which will be needed in the system.

While the main beams will pass through Southern Alberta, the AGT will have a branch to Edmonton from the Calgary district. The main beam will enter Alberta in the Medicine Hat region, travel to Calgary and continue west through the Crow's Nest Pass.

14 Stations

The minister said there will be 14 to 16 relay stations in Alberta approximately 30 miles apart. The towers will be 50 to 300 feet tall, depending on the nature of terrain where they will be located.

In the east, officials of the trans-Canada system estimated the 800-mile Winnipeg-Regina-Calgary section is expected to go into service in 1957 and the 580-mile link between Calgary and Vancouver in early 1958.

They added the schedule may be altered to meet the dual requirements of television and long-distance telephone service.

Alberta has been experimenting with micro-wave relay for the last few years on a limited scale between Oids and Sundre, about 20 miles apart. Mr. Taylor said the system has given AGT technicians experience in the technical requirements of the system.

Operating on an ultra-high radio frequency, the micro-wave will be capable of carrying a large number of voice channels along with the television.

The basic requirements for carrying color television will be built into the system, although additional equipment will be required when color television is to be relayed.

One of the problems to be overcome, Mr. Taylor said, is avoiding the numerous radio beams existing. For this reason, the towers being erected are on a temporary basis until it is determined if they are in the proper location for maximum reception and transmission.

Tourist Service Week

Tourist Service Week — May 1 to 7 — will be a trans-Canada event this year under the sponsorship of the Canadian Tourist Association.

The C.T.A. dropped the program two years ago, but Alberta carried on alone. Finally, at the insistence of Mr. Moore, the organization agreed to take it up again as a national event. While the rest of Canada will observe only one week, Alberta's tourist program will be in effect from May 1 to June 3. During that time radio broadcasts and other publicity media will be used to stress courtesy, co-operation and interest in the tourist.

Attempts were made to have an official proclamation of Tourist Service Week from Ottawa, but this was unsuccessful. Instead, the Hon. Jean Lesage, under whose portfolio the national parks are administered, will officially open the week with a radio address. In Alberta, the public will be urged to aid the tourist and publicize Alberta through radio addresses by the Minister and Deputy Minister of Economic Affairs, and by the Director of the Alberta Travel Bureau.

Chairman of the program is T. H. R. (Theo) McNally, while representatives on the committee include: H. A. Webster for the Canadian Rockies Tourist Association; Mrs. C. Colewell, of High River, for the Motor Courts and Resorts Association, and E. S. J. Bryant for the Alberta government.

Briefly Speaking —

... The province is progressing favorably on the design for the new permanent display building at the Fort Macleod Information Bureau. It is expected that the structure will be erected in time for the 1955 tourist season.

... The weekly radio broadcasts to inform the people of the province about Alberta's Golden Jubilee have proven very successful. With the program less than a third completed, numerous letters and messages have been received by individuals and organizations interested in helping with the celebrations. The introductory programs were given by Mr. Moore while others will include selected speakers from all parts of the province.

... Because of his contribution to the tourist industry, both in Alberta and throughout Canada, Mr. Moore was elected honorary president of the C.R.T.A. at a meeting held earlier in the year.

... Application forms now are available for the 1955 Tourist Promotion Folder contest. There are four classes: resorts, fishing, or hunting camps, motels and boards of trade and chambers of commerce.

Alberta made a poor showing last year, so let's see a "Best Folder" winner in 1955. Information and application forms may be obtained from Dan E. C. Campbell, director, Alberta Travel Bureau, Legislative building, Edmonton. Competition closes June 30.

Many Fires Caused By Carelessness

More than 17 fires occur each day of the world through careless use of electricity, according to officials of the All Canada Insurance Federation. Inadequate wiring and improper use of appliances accounts for more than 16 per cent of all fires, with an annual cost of $8,000,000.

Officials of the Federation, which represents more than 200 fire, automobile and casualty insurance companies in Canada said most houses are not wired adequately for all the modern appliances in use today.

The following precautions are recommended by insurance experts—

1—Have a qualified technician install and check all wiring and installations.

2—Before buying a large appliance, be sure the house is wired with enough power to operate it.

3—Make sure fuses of correct size are used; fuses too large for the circuit are hazardous.

4—Disconnect lamps and appliances in use when a fuse blows out, and replace fuse with one of proper size, never with tin foil or hazardous substitutes.

5—Use only extension cords with recognized seal of approval, and of sufficient size to carry the load required.

6—Never string wires over hooks, under rugs or in exposed places where constant wear and tear will make them dangerous.

7—Disconnect heaters, irons and other appliances with heating units when you leave the house.

8—Never hang laundry or cloths over electric wires.

The Seagram Art Tour

The world-famous Seagram Collection of Cities of Canada paintings will reach Calgary this week and will be opened for public inspection Wednesday, March 16.

The collection, consisting of 26 major paintings and 39 sketches of 26 Canadian cities, will be set up in the Palliser Hotel.

It will remain in Calgary on display until March 27.

A handsome painting of Calgary which is a feature of the collection, is the work of A. C. Leighton, R.B.A.

The paintings were commissioned and sent travelling abroad and through Canada in the past two years by the House of Seagram. Object was to give foreign people a better concept of Canadian life.

The four-ton gallery, complete with aluminum and wood supports, draperies, velvet ropes and diffused lighting, is travelling in 5 packing cases. Throughout most of its tour of Central and South America, and Europe, it travelled by air.

More than 200,000 persons viewed the exhibit in foreign lands. In Rome, J. S. Hallam's "Place d'Armes" was presented to Pope Pius for hanging in the Vatican. This was one of the original group depicting Montreal.

Foreign cities visited were San Juan, Puerto Rico; Havana, Cuba; Mexico City, Mexico; Caracas, Venezuela; Rio de Janeiro and Sao Paulo, Brazil; Buenos Aires, Argentina; Montevideo, Uruguay; Rome, London, Paris, Geneva, Stockholm, The Hague, Madrid, and Soest, Germany, headquarters of the first Canadian infantry brigade.

Advertising...

Modern advertising is a necessity to hold and build business. Be proud of your business, of the goods you have to sell, of the services you have to offer in your particular line. Show the progressive spirit and the desire to serve by advertising. Do not hide your light under a bushel — proclaim far and wide who you are and what you have to sell and where your place of business is, for public memory is short, and advertising is a powerful aid to all types of businesses. Moreover, people as a general rule shop where they are invited.

The Easter Seal Story

The Co-ordinating Council for Crippled Children (Alberta) is a body consisting of representatives of 29 organizations in Alberta among which are the Associated Canadian Travellers, the Kiwanis, and the Lions Clubs of several cities. In addition to these clubs there is a representative of the Department of Education, the University Hospital, The Council of Community Services, the C.N.B. the University of Alberta Faculty of Medicine, the Junior Hospital League, and the Canadian Arthritis and Rheumatism Society.

One of the nine objects found in the Council's charter is worded as follows:—

"While working consistently for prevention, the Council will use every means possible to try to ensure that the care needed is available to children within the Council's area of operation, who are already crippled or physically handicapped."

There is a Co-ordinating Council for Crippled Children in each of the 10 provinces of Canada. The money raised in any province is spent in that province. The provincial Councils are members of the Canadian Council for Crippled Children.

To raise funds for their work the Co-ordinating Council will send to each of 285,000 homes in Alberta a sheet of 100 Easter Seals and invite donations through the purchase of same. The same seal will go out all over Canada.

The Council has two full time employees only. The Executive Secretary and his office manager. They occupy a very modest office at 4-1039-82nd Ave., Edmonton, and enquiries are welcomed.

The Council defines a crippled child as follows: "any child which in any way deviates from the normal." No worthy case is turned away as long as the money lasts and there is very little left by the time the next year's campaign is opened.

In the province of Alberta there are: over 1,000 apastics, more than 18,000 speech defectives, more than 4,000 children with orthopedic defects, not to mention blue babies, hemangiomas, hydrocephalics, burn cases, etc., etc. The task is enormous.

The Council through the agency of service clubs and the local doctors, finds the crippled child, obtains a diagnosis of the disability and provides treatment where warranted.

It will thus be seen that the council deals directly with the child and its needs, if the child must go to Rochester, U.S.A., it goes.

The Council cannot at any time add to an already existent building anywhere. It does not, nor will it, buy machines or furnishings for any hospital. It believes that there is throughout the province, and beyond, an abundance of skill and care in hospitals equipped with every known device of the healing art, and it is determined to spend 80 to 85 cents of every dollar it receives on the children who will benefit by treatment.

In other words the dollar you subscribe gives a crippled child a 'fighting' chance! Your dollar gets the child to the place of treatment. You are therefore earnestly invited to buy easter seals in this Canada wide effort. Please mail your pink envelope today.

When you support the Canadian Red Cross you are there when a crippled child needs transportation for clinical treatment. You serve by giving.
